- (1) When I was a young boy, around 5 to 7, I went on a spectacular trip with my family to the beach. We played in the waves, made sandcastles and had a barbeque. Confused, I saw a green shiny bottle. "I'm just going to go and swim for a minute," I bellowed to my mum. "Ok Dan," my mum shouted. I swam to the shoreline and I picked the green, shiny bottle with a note inside it. I pulled it to the shore. My brother Kyle asked what it was, "A set of co-ordinates are in the bottle," I replied. I asked to borrow my dad's GPS and typed in the set of co-ordinates (42, 32, 11). It led us to the side of a cliff. My brother and I started digging with our plastic shovels, until my brother's shovel hit something hard...
- (2) It looked old, it was a huge, golden yellow, magical box. Perplexed and puzzled, when I laid a finger on it, it popped opened, which caused me to go into an extremely deep sleep...
- (3) The fierce, mysterious, magical box, sucked me inside of it. I swished and I swirled, into the truly unforgiving lands. The sparkles surrounded me and I felt an unusual feeling. I shouted furiously for help... There was no answer in this strange land. I thought there really was no way back to Earth. Shockingly, I couldn't see the strange hole where I came from. I had absolutely no idea where I had started. I span and span and I saw patterns surrounding me until I suddenly disappeared into thin air! There was a scary echoing noise until I unusually blacked out inside the box...
- (4) Faltering, I shot out of the top of the box in a completely different world, there was pretty much everything there! There were even pink, fluffy, vicious demons. There were loads of peculiar places, even a cactus land with cactuses with heads... Petrified, I even saw the Grim Reaper! There were unsettling dragons flying everywhere. Terrified, I saw a scaly dragon breathing red hot fire. There was a gargantuan black stinging nettle bush. I discovered an unusual opening in the ground and decided to sprint into it...
- (5) The very second I was pumped out of the hell hole, I called out for my parents. I tried to stamp on the box, but it didn't work. I picked up a huge rock and gave the box a few strikes and in a split second, it disintegrated. All of its evil had come out and I had to lock it far, far away to stop it from ever happening again. I still can't get to sleep at night, the nightmares still haunt me from that day...
